Ecocortec d.o.o and Eko Vrelo d.o.o. are pleased to announce an Open House for those interested in Croatia's blossoming sustainable technology economy. Business partners, suppliers, customers and the public are invited to learn about the latest innovations and plans for the future.

Boris Miksic, CEO of EcoCortec and Mrs Nevenka Topić and Mr. Krunoslav Lesar, owners of the Eko Vrelo will host the event and enthusiastically invite those from Croatia and throughout Europe to their factories.

During the Open House, a Charter will be signed between EcoCortec and Eko Vrelo establishing Ecoclaster. The goal of Ecoclaster is the promotion of ecological acceptable products, technologies and business practices like biodegradable packaging and organic juices. EcoCortec and Eko Vrelo are hopeful by leading by example, other local businesses will soon join the sustainable business movement.

INVITATION

Eko Vrelo d.o.o. - Production of organic juices

“What often is forgotten is that ‘green business’ is more than just environmental stewardship or a single product,” states Boris Miksic. “Sustainable business practices require operating your business for long-term viability. In that way EcoCortec and Eko Vrelo produce better products and better profits through less waste that allow greater investment locally.”

In addition to EcoCortec and Eko Vrelo several executives and board members of Beli Manastir companies will announce further business development initiatives and investments in the Beli Manastir business zone.
